

IR Book Page: Unit 1

A Focus on Comprehension

We have learned a plethora of things during this unit! We have learned various strategies to help us become even better readers and writers. Let's put it all into action now. Reflect on your independent reading text and complete the following in your Reader's Notebook.

1. Write a brief summary of the text.
2. Draw a scene from the story that was most vivid to you as you read. The lines from the story that created this image in your mind must be written within the picture. A minimum of two quotes must be used.
3. Make a personal connection to the text and write a short reflection.
4. Write an interpretive question about the text and answer it with a quote from the text.
5. Identify the universal theme of the text and reflect on its significance to our world today.
